

I wish to vehemently oppose the further concentration of media ownership. Such concentration is a dangerous step toward allowing the power of the media to be centered in just a few hands. This is a dangerous road to follow.